

Back To The Child

When I Change My Mind After Listening

When I change my mind after listening, I teach my child:

1 Listening can help us see things differently.

2 It's okay to be wrong and to learn something new.

3 Changing my mind is a strength, not a weakness.

4 Learning matters more than protecting my ego.

5 We can grow together through open and honest conversations.

♥ A different perspective can lead to a stronger tomorrow. ♥

They're learning that it's okay to change,
and that growth is always possible.

Back to the Child
No blame. No shame. No sides.
